Barnardo's AXIS Service Falkirk is a service for young people with problematic drug / alcohol / solvent use. The service also works with young people at a lower level of need in relation to substance use to prevent the development of more serious issues. The service works with young people living in the Falkirk Council area and who are willing to discuss their substance use. The service also provides consultation to other professionals, should a referral for specialist intervention not be deemed appropriate.
